COMBAT PATROL

MINDFLENSER'S MURDER COURT

NECRONS | WARHAMMER 40,000 | 11TH EDITION

A master of fear, Mokhryst is a Psychomancer whose Cryptek peers share a wary repugnance of her association with the most cursed of Necrons. With degraded horrors at her command, she instils yet greater terror in her victims' minds through phantasms and hard-light constructs, leading a murder court of Flayed Ones and Ophydian Destroyers in the hunt for prey.

ARMY RULES

REANIMATION PROTOCOLS

The Necron dynasties benefit from the nigh-on supernatural technologies that once saw them dominate the galaxy, perhaps the most unsettling of which are their reanimation protocols. Should a Necron be slain, its body becomes wreathed in an eerie glow. Crawling limbs reattach. Sundered torsos and smashed skulls reform amidst emerald sparks. Witchlights flare back to life within dead eye-lenses and the Necron rises again, shambling back into its battle line. Those Necrons too catastrophically damaged to reform vanish instead, teleported away to their tombs for repair.

At the end of your Command phase, each unit from your army that is on the battlefield and has this ability reanimates D3 wounds. Each time such a unit reanimates a wound: If that unit contains one or more models with fewer than their starting number of wounds remaining, select one of those models; that model regains 1 lost wound. If all models in that unit have their starting number of wounds, but that unit is not at its Starting Strength, one destroyed model is returned to that unit with one wound remaining.

Once such a unit is at its Starting Strength and all of its models have their starting number of wounds, nothing further happens.
