

THE IRON TIDE

ARMAGEDDON STEEL LEGION MECHANISED PATROL

ASTRA MILITARUM • STEEL LEGION • IMPERIUM

The Armageddon Steel Legion knows one rhythm and one only: the iron rhythm of treads on rockcrete. Where the Legion advances, the line moves as one continuous wall of armour and gunfire — Castellan in his Chimera's cupola, infantry in the holds, heavy weapons bolted to the upper hatches. The dust does not settle behind a Steel Legion advance; the column does not stop until the objective is taken or the last shell is spent.

RECOMMENDED DETACHMENT

This Combat Patrol is designed around the Mechanised Strike Force detachment (mechanised_strike_force_card.html). The detachment's Mechanised Doctrine rule grants embarked Infantry +1 OC and lets disembarking units fire Heavy weapons at full BS — both of which this Patrol leans on heavily.

The Warlord (Platoon Castellan) takes the Track Commander enhancement (15 pts, included in the points total below) — his Chimera fires at BS 3+ and re-rolls Hit rolls of 1 against the closest visible enemy.

FACTION ABILITY — VOICE OF COMMAND

The Platoon Castellan rides the centre Chimera, vox crackling, every sub-squad hearing his orders before the firefight begins.

At the start of your Command phase, the Platoon Castellan can issue up to 2 Orders to sub-squads of the Infantry Platoon within 6" of him (or while embarked in a Chimera, measured from the Chimera). Use the canonical Astra Militarum Order list (Take Aim!, Fix Bayonets!, Move! Move! Move!, First Rank, Fire!, Take Cover!).

DETACHMENT RULE — MECHANISED DOCTRINE

Mechanised Doctrine

While a friendly Astra Militarum Infantry unit is embarked in a friendly Astra Militarum Transport, that unit adds 1 to its Objective Control characteristic.

Each time a friendly Astra Militarum Infantry unit disembarks from a Transport during your turn, until the end of that turn, ranged attacks made by models in that unit with the [HEAVY] ability are made at the firing model's full Ballistic Skill (i.e., ignores the standard penalty for moving when firing Heavy weapons).

CP STRATAGEMS (3 OF 6 FROM DETACHMENT)

Open Hatches! 1 CP

The Iron Tide — Battle Tactic Stratagem

WHEN: Your Shooting phase, just after a friendly Chimera's embarked unit is selected to shoot using Firing Deck.

EFFECT: Increase the Chimera's Firing Deck characteristic by 2. Embarked unit may re-roll Wound rolls of 1.

Treads Forward! 1 CP

The Iron Tide — Strategic Ploy Stratagem

WHEN: Your Movement phase, before a friendly Chimera moves.

EFFECT: +3" Move this phase. If it Advances, embarked models may still disembark this turn (after the Transport moves).

Smokescreen Surge 1 CP

The Iron Tide — Strategic Ploy Stratagem

WHEN: End of your Movement phase.
EFFECT: All your Chimeras gain Stealth and Benefit of Cover until your next turn. (Cannot be used by a Chimera that Advanced this turn.)

Enhancement: Track Commander Mechanised Strike Force enhancement on the Platoon Castellan	15
Total	460 pts

DESIGNER'S NOTE — The Iron Tide is the Steel Legion's archetypal mechanised patrol: every Guardsman starts the battle inside a Chimera, the Castellan commands from his vehicle's cupola, and the column advances on tracks rather than boots. The Platoon Castellan takes the TRACK COMMANDER enhancement (already costed into the 510-pt total) which sharpens his Chimera's gunnery. The Mechanised Strike Force detachment's +1 OC while embarked + full-BS Heavy fire on disembark are the two rules this list lives or dies by — deliver the squads to the objective, dismount, lay down lascannon and heavy bolter fire. The ARMoured SENTINEL WITH LASCANNON sits hull-down on the flank, picking off armour at long range — the closed-cab variant is the canonical Armageddon walker, sealed against the hive-world's toxic atmospherics and ash-wastes, and was the Sentinel that shipped with the original Steel Legion boxed sets.

Faction: Voice of Command.

Voice of Command (Platoon): Castellan issues 2 Orders/turn to sub-squads within 6" or while embarked (measure from Chimera).

Combined Operations (Single Unit): All sub-squads form one unit for army-construction. Sub-squads target/charge/score independently. Platoon destroyed only when every sub-squad is gone.

Iron Discipline: While Castellan is on the battlefield, sub-squads may re-roll failed Battle-shock tests.

Coordinated Disembark: When a Chimera in the Platoon is destroyed, the disembarked sub-squad gains Stealth + Benefit of Cover until your next Movement phase.

Track Commander Enhancement: While Castellan is embarked in a Chimera, that Chimera's ranged weapons fire at BS 3+ (instead of 4+), and re-roll Hit rolls of 1 against the closest visible enemy unit.
