INQUISITOR'S HAND

AGENTS OF THE IMPERIUM | WARHAMMER 40,000 | 11TH EDITION

An Inquisitorial retinue gathered for a single, brutal purpose — Inquisitorial Agents and a Vigilant Squad providing cover while Preacher Teguen and an Eversor Assassin deliver the killing blow. This reference compiles the official Combat Patrol: Inquisitor's Hand detachment rules and datasheets exactly as presented in the Warhammer 40,000 app, formatted to match the No Figure Left Behind Combat Patrol archive.

ARMY RULE

ASSIGNED AGENTS
If your Army Faction is Agents of the Imperium, then in the Select Detachment Rules step, you can select one of the available Detachments from this publication as normal.

If your Army Faction is not Agents of the Imperium, but every model in your army has the Imperium keyword, you can include Agents of the Imperium units in your army even if they do not have the Faction keyword you selected in the Select Army Faction step. In this case, the maximum number of Agents of the Imperium units you can include in your army depends on the battle size, as follows: Incursion — 1 Retinue, 1 Character, 1 Requisitioned; Strike Force — 2 Retinue, 2 Character, 1 Requisitioned; Onslaught — 3 Retinue, 3 Character, 2 Requisitioned.

Note that you can include Agents of the Imperium Dedicated Transport units in such an army as normal, but each unit must start the battle with one or more units embarked within it, or it cannot be deployed for that battle and will count as having been destroyed during the first battle round.

DETACHMENT RULE

INQUISITOR'S HAND

In your Command phase, you can select one enemy unit. Friendly Inquisitor's Hand units' attacks that target that enemy unit have: [IGNORES COVER], [LETHAL HITS], [PRECISION].

FORCE DISPOSITIONS
This detachment has access to the following Force Disposition: Purge the Foe.
