CRUSADER BATTLE ROBOT

120 POINTS

COMBINED-ARMS COMBAT AUTOMATA

ADEPTUS MECHANICUS • IMPERIUM

One power sword in each oversized servo-arm — the Crusader's signature melee loadout since the original 1st Ed Compendium. The heavy slot could be swapped for a lascannon, multi-melta, or missile launcher subject to the controlling Tech-Priest's preference.

Faction — Doctrina Imperatives
See Army Rule.

Atomantic Cortex Shielding
This model has a 5+ invulnerable save.

Implacable Programming
This model automatically passes Battle-shock tests, and is unaffected by rules that would force it to Fall Back or leave the battlefield against its preprogrammed orders.

Crusader Onslaught
This model can declare a charge in a turn in which it Advanced. In addition, each time this model makes a melee attack that targets a unit it charged this turn, an unmodified Wound roll of 5+ scores a Critical Wound.

Cortex Override Vulnerability
If there is no friendly Adeptus Mechanicus Character model within 12" of this model at the start of your Command phase, this model can only move toward the nearest visible enemy unit during its next Movement phase, and must attempt to charge if able.

Explodes (5+)
When this model is destroyed, roll one D6 before removing it from play; on a 5+ each unit within 6" suffers D3 mortal wounds.

Paired Power Swords
[TWIN-LINKED]

> Designer's Note. The Crusader from the original RT Compendium (1987) carried paired power swords as its core melee armament, plus a shoulder-mounted heavy weapon (most commonly a heavy autocannon). This build keeps the Crusader as a versatile brawler-shooter: aggressive in melee thanks to twin power swords and Crusader Onslaught, with the heavy autocannon for the approach. Cortex Override Vulnerability is preserved from RT-era lore. 11th-edition verification, 2026-08-31: checked current 11e BSData directly — no genuine match anywhere

(only unrelated substring false-positives like Land Raider Crusader, Knight Crusader, Crusader Squad); still genuinely unsupported. Sanity-checked scale against the real Kastelan Robot (M6"/T9/Sv2+/W7/LD7+/OC2, 5+ inv) — the closest living relative in role and era among current Mechanicus automata (HH-era automata like Castellax/Domitar/Thanatar are a much larger weight class and not a useful direct comparison per this scale check). Crusader's T8/W6/Sv3+ sits comfortably in the same ballpark as Kastelan, appropriately lighter for its nimbler brawler role. No stat corrections needed; kept as-is from the prior 10e conversion pass. 11th-edition rules pass, 2026-10-10: regenerated from the NewRecruit NFLB catalogue so this card matches New Recruit exactly — official 11e weapon and wargear profiles wherever an official equivalent exists, 11e Orders and wording.
